Celebration of the International Day for Women
March 08, 2006

Today is a very important day, when all over the world the International Day for Women is celebrated. As a woman, I want to congratulate all of you who work in MRCA projects, for the good job you are doing, day by day, under difficult circumstances, for the improvement of the health status of the people of Afghanistan, and especially women and children.

My thoughts are with you every day, and I pray God to help you in the essential work you are doing to build the future of Afghanistan.

God bless you.
